

ABOUT US

Water

Water. You hold me as I reside in you, around you, and below you
Every mammoth hoof, tongue of the Mesozoic era stained on my body
I soared through the sky with the pterodactyls teaching their young
I swelled the seas and offered home to the whale song
I hold a past on your tongue
I'm Water.

Water. Held in interstellar clouds far from this planet clouds earth's seas could not hold.
Pumped like breath through the galaxy as your heart pumps me through your veins and the tiger's
I'm Water.

Missy Ashiru, Highly Commended in the About Us poetry competition